9 United Int'l University students get jobs in Japan

▶ AA News Desk

Nine students of United International University (UIU), who graduated from Computer Science and Engineering, have secured jobs in Japanese firms through direct recruiting process on the university campus recently. Venturas Ltd conducted an interview for a prospective job position and selected six candidates directly while three others passed through an online technical assessment. The interviews were conducted followed by a seminar organized by the university. Founder and CEO of the Venturas Ltd Oriko Ueda and the UIU VC Prof Dr Chowdhury Mofizur Rahman were present at the seminar, said a press release.
